On October 19, 2023, Dhahran Ahliyya Schools hosted the "Al-Qaswa Exhibition", a painting competition organized by the Student Activity Unit in the Khobar Education Office, both for boys and girls. The purpose of this exhibition was to inspire and develop creative imagination in order to contribute to the development of a creative generation capable of effectively engaging with the world through artistic means. The aim was to provide participants with the necessary theoretical and practical artistic skills in painting and visual arts, while also deepening their religious and national identity, and preserving Saudi Arabia's cultural heritage. The Al-Qaswa Competition drew inspiration from the emotional connection and loyalty between humans, camels, and sand dunes. The exhibited paintings aimed to embody the values of patience, strengthen national identity, and link them to proverbs and poetic verses, all visually expressed on the canvas. A total of 65 paintings were received from 41 schools at the Al-Khobar Governorate level, with 60 of them being enriching plastic art. These artistic pieces were collected from participating schools in Al-Khobar over a span of two days, specifically on October 16 and 17. The exhibition received a total of 81 visitors, and on October 18, a judging committee from the Al-Khobar office evaluated the paintings participating in the Al-Qaswa competition. Finally, the exhibition was held on October 19, 2023.

The exhibition was inaugurated in the morning by Ms. Sharifa Al-Barqi, the administrative supervisor for Arts, and Ms. Reem Al-Mansour, the supervisor of the Khobar office. The principal for middle and secondary levels, Ms. Lama Al-Akkas, was also present. In the evening, supervisors from the Khobar and Dammam offices, as well as representatives from various schools, visited the exhibition. Mental Health is a Priority

Based on one the IB learner profile's characteristics which is "balanced" and the fact that we always prioritize the well-being of the spirit, mind, and body, we join the global community in observing World Mental Health Day on October 10th, under the theme "Mental Health is a Priority for All." This celebration aims to foster discussions about mental health in order to enhance awareness and understanding of actions that promote and safeguard mental well-being as a fundamental human right.

Mental health is defined as "a state of well-being in which individuals realize their abilities, cope with normal life stresses, work productively and fruitfully, and contribute to their community." Factors that contribute to the improvement of mental health include:

1. Engaging in acts of spiritual nourishment, as it is the primary purpose of our existence. As God Almighty states, "I have only created jinn and mankind to worship Me."
2. Consuming nourishing and healthy food for a vibrant body.
3. Engaging in various sports and hobbies.
4. Cultivating positive and meaningful relationships through effective and active communication.
5. Continuously expanding knowledge through learning, researching, and exploring.

Volunteering, engaging in work, and practicing sustained acts of generosity.

"Your mind is like a magnet. If you think about a blessing, you attract a blessing. If you think about a problem, you attract a problem." Your mind constantly seeks evidence to support the narratives you create. Whatever you instruct your mind to search for, it will find. Therefore, narrate positive stories, instruct it to search for the good, and witness the marvellous outcomes presented by your own mind.

Our KG2 Students' Trip to (Ithraa)

Our KG2 students have embarked on a trip to the Ithraa Centre in order to read children's books at the library located there. During their visit, they were able to engage in multiple stories and gain knowledge on expressing their emotions through art. Additionally, they learned how to transition from one setting to another through the story "Flying Sheep". Our students thoroughly enjoyed participating in various activities that correlated with the content they had read.

Our KG3 Students' Trip to (Ithraa)

Based on the principle of discovery and exploration among kindergarten students, a trip was taken to Ithraa Centre, where our students learned about engraving design and the sequence of shapes in different styles, through the story of "Mezna and Umm Saud," through which they discovered the Sadu fabric. They then carried out several handmade activities with designing their own pattern.

“Bed-time Story” Activity

To enhance the partnership with parents relating to school activities, the kindergarten level (KG2 – KG3) carried out the Bedtime Story event at school, which is one of the “I am a child reader” activities. This is to support children's love of reading, so they can read a story of their choice, discuss the actions of the story with their mothers through the reading guide (higher-order thinking questions), and share with mothers their daily routine through multiple activities.

Introducing the Theme “How we Organize Ourselves”.

In support of the theme of “How we Organize Ourselves”, and its central idea that states: (The roles that influence the organization of the school community), students in KG2 took a trip inside the school during the 11th week of the first trimester, where the trip helped to investigate the roles that help Organization of the school community such as (principal/librarian/security guard/teacher/nurse). They visited VP. Maha Al-Omaid who explained her role in thoroughly selecting the staff who are the best for them (A question was asked to Mrs. Maha Al-Omaid by a student: What is this? Pointing to the name identification card that she is having, she replied, “This is my name.” He said to her, “Why do you put it here? I mentioned it so that it can be recognized by others so they can know my name and my role in the school community.”

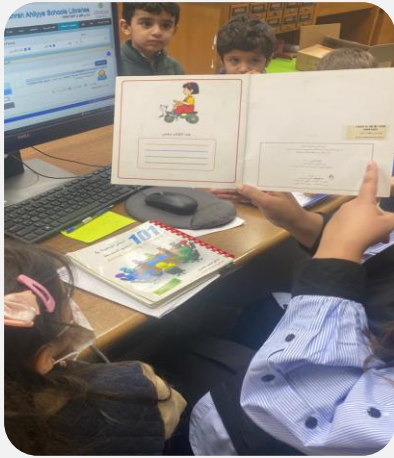

Students also visited Mrs. Muntaha Albluwi, the principal of the KG and elementary school, who explained her role in providing the safe setting for their learning environment.

When they visited the schools' library they were introduced to the librarian and got to know the resources provided, how to borrow books and rules of visiting the library.

They also were introduced to the tasks of the security guard: his role in protecting us, maintaining our safety, and organizing our exit during dismissal. They met the school nurse: learning about her tools and her role in the school community by taking care of the health and safety of students.

Our trip supported students' communication and social skills to meet their needs through using time management and organization strategies within the school community. They also understood the importance of enforcing laws, and taking responsibility towards themselves, the school, and society.

Introducing the Theme “How the World Works”.

In support of the theme “How the World Works” that its central idea revolves around how force moves bodies. KG3 students made a trip to Tamimi Markets during the 11th week of the first trimester.

During the trip, KG3 students learned to investigate and research the effect of forces on the objects around us and discovered the different types of force such as: pushing force, pulling force, lifting with an electric crane, and comparing the different types of forces.

Our trip supported the students' higher-order thinking skills, as they were able to search for solutions, choose the appropriate solution to move different things, and use time effectively.
